TELEHEALTH INFORMED CONSENT

Telehealth allows therapy sessions to be conducted using interactive audio and video communication. I hereby consent to participating in psychotherapy via internet platform (hereinafter referred to as Telehealth) with Catherine Beckett, LCSW, PhD. I understand I have the following rights under this agreement:

I have a right to confidentiality with Telehealth under the same laws that protect my confidentiality for in-person psychotherapy. Therefore, any information disclosed by me during the course of my therapy is confidential, with limited exceptions. These include mandatory reporting of child, elder, and dependent adult abuse, and any threats of violence I may make towards a reasonably identifiable person. I also understand that if I appear to present a danger to myself or others, my therapist has the right to break confidentiality to address the safety threat. Any other release of confidential information requires my written consent. I understand that while psychotherapeutic treatment of all kinds has been found to be effective in treating a wide range of mental disorders, personal and relational issues, specific outcomes are not guaranteed.

I further understand that there are risks unique and specific to treatment via Telehealth, including but not limited to:

- Our therapy sessions could be disrupted or distorted by technical problems or failures;
- Our sessions could be interrupted or accessed by unauthorized persons, even on the secure, HIPAA-compliant platforms utilized by Dr. Beckett.

In addition, I understand that Telehealth treatment is different from in-person therapy and presents both advantages and drawbacks; if Dr. Beckett believes I would be better served by another form of psychotherapeutic service, she will communicate this information.

I have read and understand the information provided above. I have the right to discuss any of this information with Dr. Beckett, and to have any questions answered to my satisfaction.

I understand that I can withdraw my consent to Telehealth sessions at any time by providing written notification to Dr. Beckett. My signature indicates that I have read this notice and agree to its terms.
